College of Social Sciences and Humanities Graduate Semester Hour Conversion

Presented by Natasha Frost, Associate Dean of Graduate Programs
College of Social Sciences and Humanities

RATIONALE

Following a series of conversations with department chairs, graduate program directors, and the Provost's Office, the College of Social Sciences and Humanities decided to pursue semester hour conversion across all of our graduate programs (from 3 semester hours per course to 4 semester hours per course).<sup>1</sup> There were multiple reasons why semester hour conversion made sense in the current context including, but not limited to:

- Cross-College Collaboration: Our 3sh courses often made cross college (and sometimes even within college) collaborations more difficult. Within the policy school, for example, we often had to develop 1sh modules to be taken simultaneously with 3sh courses so that students from other colleges could actually take our courses within the context of their own degree programs.
- Undergraduate Recruitment into Graduate Programs through PlusOne: Equally important, the 3sh courses in the graduate context made the PlusOne programs awkward to implement and confusing for undergraduate students. When on the undergraduate side of their PlusOne program, students were taking more difficult graduate courses within their undergraduate course load for less credit. Three semester hour graduate courses also meant that students could not take full advantage of the PlusOne benefit of having 16sh double-counted. CSSH students had to take five courses to get to 15sh. Fitting four graduate courses in on the undergraduate side is difficult, fitting five courses in (and still not achieving the maximum potential benefit) dis-incentivized the PlusOne option. PlusOne programs have been an important source of enrollments in our graduate programs and we have been working with the undergraduate programs to ensure that we see growth there in the future.
- Certificates: Current students have expressed a desire to pursue interdisciplinary studies through adding a certificate to their program. Certificates require a minimum of 12 semester hours of credit so in a 3sh model, students have to find room in their curriculum for four courses. In a 4sh model, all of the certificates can become 3 course certificates. All of our certificate program directors elected to move to a 3-course certificate through semester hour conversion. We believe this will help with both external and internal recruitment into certificate programs.

- Co-op across the Graduate Programs: We were also in the process of adding a co-op option to all of our Masters' degree programs and working on an experiential integration course and curricular maps for the AY 18-19 implementation of graduate co-op. Pursuing conversion in this academic year made sense in the context of other graduate programs initiatives already underway.
- Modularity: We also see increased capacity for modularity (a university priority) within a 4sh context. Students can take full courses or more modular offerings of 1sh or 2sh.

PROCESS

Once all of the department chairs agreed that semester hour conversion made sense, we met with representatives of the Provost's Office to alert them to our intention to pursue SH conversion across the college.

All were in agreement that simply growing the semester hours required per program by 25% would not be sustainable, so all programs were asked to consider trimming their curriculum (usually by eliminating an elective or two) so that the total hours required for the degree program remained reasonably similar to that which is required now. This was particularly important in the Masters' degree programs where students pay per semester hour for their program.

We also held a series of meetings with the Registrar's Office team over the Fall semester to ensure that we prepared the proposed changes in a way that facilitated implementation and catalog updates. Both the Provost's Office and the Registrar's Office agreed that 30+ separate full proposals would be both overly burdensome (and unnecessary) and agreed that college-wide conversion should involve this single memo that would clearly articulate the purposes and process, followed by a series of curriculum maps that showed the changes visually.

Over the Fall 2018 semester, the CSSH Dean's Office worked with every graduate certificate and degree program to construct the enclosed semester hour conversion maps. Each unit head then took the maps and the proposed changes back to their full faculty for discussion and vote.

Curriculum Maps: For each certificate and degree program, the curriculum maps clearly show the existing degree requirements on the left (copied directly from the AY 17-18 catalog) and the post-conversion degree requirements on the right. We have highlighted the overall change to the programs (total semester hours required, broken down by required courses and electives) in the header for each certificate or degree program.

Governance: The relevant faculty for each of the certificate and degree programs have considered and voted on both semester hour conversion as a college-wide effort and the actual specific changes to their certificate and degree programs (e.g. the curriculum maps). The date and outcome of those votes is reported by program in the brief descriptions of program by program changes that follow.

The CSSH Graduate Academic Advisory Committee (GAAC), comprised of five elected faculty representatives, were apprised of this effort across the semester, and was given an opportunity to review the full proposal along with all curriculum maps. The GAAC voted 5-0-0 on 1/22/2018 in favor of conversion and the proposed changes to the graduate degree programs across the college.

The Associate Deans of other colleges were informed of this effort during the November 5, 2017 meeting of the Graduate Studies Committee. All agreed to the proposal in principle and were provided with the complete package during the Graduate Studies meeting on 1/18/2018. There were no objections to the proposed CSSH semester hour conversion.

SUMMARY

The table that follows the program-by-program description provides a concise summary of the changes that are reflected in the curriculum map that follows. For quick reference it also includes the faculty vote and date of vote as well as the change in overall SH requirements pre-and post-conversion. As is evident in the table, across the Master's degree programs, most programs were able to eliminate one or two courses so that the 4sh program was only on average 1sh longer than the existing 3sh program. Units often had a more difficult time eliminating a course or two in the PhD Programs, so there the average increase in SH across programs is 3sh on average.

IMPACT ON COURSES

All 4sh courses will be scheduled for 3 hours and 20 minutes to meet the Carnegie requirement for contact hours. We have established suggested graduate course sequences that align with undergraduate sequences.

IMPACT ON EXISTING STUDENTS

Current graduate students will be held harmless. Unless they affirmatively opt into the new curriculum in writing, it will be presumed that they will be governed by the curriculum that was in the catalog in their academic year of first enrollment. Since the courses required to complete their degree will become 4sh courses beginning in Fall 2018, the College will provide a tuition credit to continuing students to cover the additional cost incurred to complete degree requirements.

CSSH Semester Hour Conversion

School of Criminology and Criminal Justice

- Before conversion, the Doctor of Philosophy in Criminology and Justice Policy (PHD-CRJP) program in the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice required 50 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 54 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 13-0-0 on December 7, 2017.
- Before conversion, the Doctor of Philosophy in Criminology and Justice Policy with Advanced Entry (PHD-CRJP-A) program in the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice required 32 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 42 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 13-0-0 on December 7, 2017.
- Before conversion, the Master of Science in Criminology and Criminal Justice (MS-CRCJ) program in the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice required 30 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 32 total semester hours for the degree. A co-op option, with a required 2sh experiential integration course, will also be available to all students entering Fall 2018 (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 13-0-0 on December 7, 2017.
- Before conversion, the JD/PhD in Law, Criminology, and Justice Policy (PHD-CRJP) program in the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice required 50 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 54 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 13-0-0 on December 7, 2017.
- Before conversion, the JD/PhD in Law, Criminology, and Justice Policy with Advanced Entry (PHD-CRJP-A) program in the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice required 32 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 38 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 13-0-0 on December 7, 2017.
- Before conversion, the JD/MS in Law, Criminology, and Criminal Justice (MS-CRCJ) program in the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice required 30 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 32 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 13-0-0 on December 7, 2017.

Department of Economics

- Before conversion, the Master of Arts in Economics (MA-ECON) program in the Department of Economics required 32 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 32 total semester hours for the degree. A co-op option, with a required 2sh experiential integration course, will also be available to all students entering Fall 2018 (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps).

Department of English

- Before conversion, the Doctor of Philosophy in English (PHD-ENGL) program in the Department of English required 42 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 48 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the Department of English voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 10-0-1 on January 9, 2018.
- Before conversion, the Doctor of Philosophy in English with Advanced Entry (PHD-ENGL-A) program in the Department of English required 21 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 24 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the Department of English voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 10-0-1 on January 9, 2018.
- Before conversion, the Master of Arts in English (MA-ENGL) program in the Department of English required 30 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 32 total semester hours for the degree. A co-op option, with a required 2sh experiential integration course, will also be available to all students entering Fall 2018 (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the Department of English voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 10-0-1 on January 9, 2018.
- Before conversion, the Digital Humanities Certificate (CERTG-DHUM) program in the Department of English required 12 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 12 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the Department of English voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 10-0-1 on January 9, 2018.

Department of History

- Before conversion, the Doctor of Philosophy in History (PHD-HIST) program in the Department of History required 37 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 45 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the Department of History voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 13-0-0 on December 6, 2017.

- Before conversion, the Doctor of Philosophy in History with Advanced Entry (PHD-HIST-A) program in the Department of History required 31 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 37 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the Department of History voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 13-0-0 on December 6, 2017.

- Before conversion, the Master of Arts in History (MA-HIST) program in the Department of History required 33 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 32 total semester hours for the degree. A co-op option, with a required 2sh experiential integration course, will also be available to all students entering Fall 2018 (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the Department of History voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 13-0-0 on December 6, 2017.

- Before conversion, the Public History Certificate (CERTG-PUHI) program in the Department of History required 12 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 12 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the Department of History voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 13-0-0 on December 6, 2017.

Department of Political Science

- Before conversion, the Doctor of Philosophy in Political Science (PHD-POLS) program in the Department of Political Science required 48 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 56 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the Department of Political Science voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 22-0-0 on January 16, 2017.

- Before conversion, the Doctor of Philosophy in Political Science with Advanced Entry (PHD-POLS-A) program in the Department of Political Science required 30 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 36 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the Department of Political Science voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 22-0-0 on January 16, 2017.

CSSH Semester Hour Conversion

- Before conversion, the Master of Arts in Political Science (MA-POLI) program in the Department of Political Science required 30 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 32 total semester hours for the degree. A co-op option, with a required 2sh experiential integration course, will also be available to all students entering Fall 2018 (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the Department of Political Science voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 24-0-0 on December 5, 2017.
- Before conversion, the Master of Science in Security and Resilience Studies (MS-SERE) program in the Department of Political Science required 30 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 32 total semester hours for the degree. A co-op option, with a required 2sh experiential integration course, will also be available to all students entering Fall 2018 (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the Department of Political Science voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 24-0-0 on December 5, 2017.
- Before conversion, the Security and Resilience Studies Certificate (CERTG-SERE) program in the Department of Political Science required 12 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 12 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the Department of Political Science voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 24-0-0 on December 5, 2017.

School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs

- Before conversion, the Doctor of Philosophy in Public Policy (PHD-PUPL) program in the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs required 42 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 51 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 19-0-0 on December 8, 2017.
- Before conversion, the Doctor of Philosophy in Public Policy with Advanced Entry (PHD-PUPL-A) program in the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs required 36 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 47 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 19-0-0 on December 8, 2017.
- Before conversion, the Master of Arts in International Affairs (MA-INAF) program in the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs required 36 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 36 total semester hours for the degree. A co-op option, with a required 2sh experiential integration course, will also be available to all students entering Fall 2018 (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 19-0-0 on December 8, 2017.

- Before conversion, the Master of Public Administration (MPA-PUAD) program in the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs required 42 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 40 total semester hours for the degree. A co-op option, with a required 2sh experiential integration course, will also be available to all students entering Fall 2018 (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 10-0-0 on December 7, 2017.
- Before conversion, the Master of Public Policy (MPP-PUPL) program in the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs required 39 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 40 total semester hours for the degree. A co-op option, with a required 2sh experiential integration course, will also be available to all students entering Fall 2018 (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 19-0-0 on December 8, 2017.
- Before conversion, the Master of Science in Urban Informatics (MS-URBI) program in the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs required 32 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 33 total semester hours for the degree. A co-op option, with a required 2sh experiential integration course, will also be available to all students entering Fall 2018 (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 19-0-0 on December 8, 2017.
- Before conversion, the Master of Science in Urban and Regional Policy (MS-URRP) program in the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs required 42 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 48 total semester hours for the degree. A co-op option, with a required 2sh experiential integration course, will also be available to all students entering Fall 2018 (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 19-0-0 on December 8, 2017.
- Before conversion, the JD/MS in Law and Public Policy (MSJD-LAPP) program in the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs required 37 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 37 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 19-0-0 on December 8, 2017.

- Before conversion, the Public Policy Analysis Certificate (CERTG- PUPA) program in the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs required 12 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 12 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 19-0-0 on December 8, 2017.
- Before conversion, the Nonprofit Sector, Philanthropy, and Social Change Certificate (CERTG-NPSC) program in the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs required 12 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 12 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 19-0-0 on December 8, 2017.
- Before conversion, the Urban Analytics Certificate (CERTG-URBI) program in the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs required 12 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 12 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 19-0-0 on December 8, 2017.
- Before conversion, the Urban Studies Certificate (CERTG-URBM) program in the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs required 12 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 12 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 19-0-0 on December 8, 2017.

Department of Sociology and Anthropology

- Before conversion, the Doctor of Philosophy in Sociology (PHD-SOCI) program in the Department of Sociology required 54 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 56 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the Department of Sociology voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 13-0-3 on January 17, 2018.
- Before conversion, the Doctor of Philosophy in Sociology with Advanced Entry (PHD-SOCI-A) program in the Department of Sociology required 24 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 28 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed

- Before conversion, the Master of Arts in Sociology (MA-SOCI) program in the Department of Sociology required 30 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 32 total semester hours for the degree. A co-op option, with a required 2sh experiential integration course, will also be available to all students entering Fall 2018 (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the Department of Sociology voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 13-0-3 on January 17, 2018.

Interdisciplinary

- Before conversion, the Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies Certificate (CERTG-WOST) program in the Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies' required 12 total semester hours for the degree. After conversion, the program will require 12 total semester hours for the degree. (see the enclosed before and after curriculum maps). The faculty of the Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies' program voted in favor of semester hour conversion and the associated revised curriculums by a vote of 14-0-0 on January 19, 2018.
- The Master of Science in Environmental Science and Policy is a new program so there is no curriculum map for it in the catalog yet. We created the map, in collaboration with the College of Science, and have included it here. This curriculum was approved through the curricular review process in the Fall 2017 semester.
